

What is passion?

by MrTMiller

A Storybird

What is passion?

by MrTMiller

Illustrated by
Silvia C's Illustration

Published on May 04, 2020

© Storybird 2020 All rights reserved

People think it is easy to be a kid.

Sometimes it is.

But sometimes it isn't.

Some days go great.

Some days you play and have fun.

Those are great days.

Some days, nothing sounds fun or interesting.
There are days when you just don't know what to do.

Grownups always look busy. They look like they always have something to do.

I have a big sister. Her name is Janet.

One day I told her: "Sometimes I feel bored and don't know what to do."

Janet said: "You need to find your passion. I love reading, so when I'm bored, I grab a book."

Think about the people you know. Do they have a passion? Do they have something they love to do? Having a passion means having an interest that is so important to you that it becomes a big part of who you are. It is something you know a lot about, and care a lot about.

For some people, their job is their passion.

Some people love their work and put a lot of time and thought into it.

For some people, art is their passion.

Some people put their thoughts and feelings into colours and shapes.

Some people love to exercise. Making their muscles move and getting their heart pumping makes them feel great.

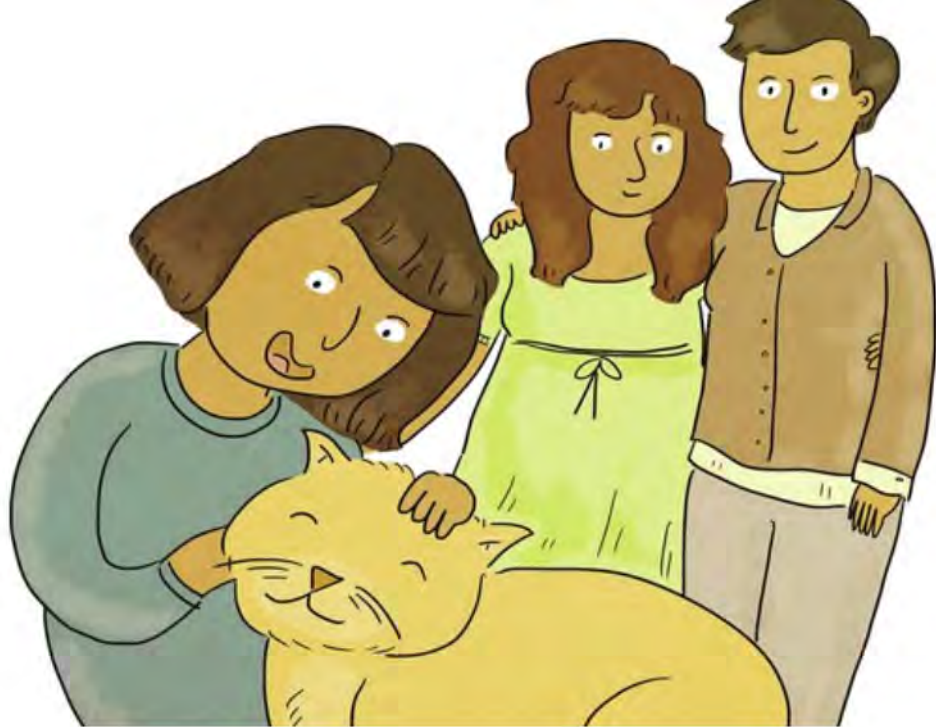

Music may be your passion. The sounds and the rhythms will call to you.

Cooking and baking are great passions. There are so many things to make, and so many different ways to make them! Plus, if cooking is your passion, you get to eat and share what you make!

For some people, their passion is caring about others. Some people feel best when they put their time and energy into caring about other people--or animals!

It's ok if it takes you some time to find your passion.

Some people already know what they love to do. For others, it takes time.

Keep trying new things, and someday you'll discover your passion!